On account of the cool weather and also the rains, the wheat in this section is taking the rust and the fear that the crop will not prove to be good. Oats are looking fine. The farmers are getting in some fine work this week, which is very much needed. All farm work is six weeks behind.

The automobile party of six from Due West to Lake Wales got back home last Thursday evening in fine shape. The ladies enjoyed the trip immensely and were "not tired." The party went down to Tampa and to St. Petersburg. They spent a night and part of a day in Bartow. They traveled about 1500 miles.

Mr. A. S. Kennedy returned on Tuesday from Atlanta, Ga., whither he had gone to attend the funeral of the only grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Pason Kennedy. This little boy was poisoned on Sabbath morning by taking some tablets of bychloride of mercury. This happened about 7 o'clock and the little sufferer died at 11 o'clock. Dr. and Mrs. Kennedy have the sympathy of a host of friends in the death of their only grandson and the only grandson in the connection.

Erskine defeated the Citadel of Charleston on the local grounds here last Monday by score of 2 to 1. It was a beautifully played game. Mr. A. S. Kennedy, Jr., did the pitching for Erskine, allowing but two scratch hits. Page for Erskine hit for three base with a man on first and then Thompson bunted page in. Evans for Erskine got two base hits and a single out of three times at bat. On last Thursday P. C. defeated Erskine at Chester by the score of 4 to 0. In another column the Chester Reporter tells of the good time the two teams had in Chester. "Lefty" Beard, who got up out of bed from the flu to pitch the first game for Erskine and against the doctors advice, has not been able to hit his usual stride so far. But look out when he does. The season has developed two fine young pitchers, Kennedy and Wolf.

Exercises in celebration of Memorial Day will be held at the A. R. P. church May 10th. To prevent a conflict with the Chautauqua program which will be given the same afternoon, the Memorial exercises will begin at 3 o'clock.

GRADING FOR THE CLUB MARKETS

In order that the club markets of our state may continue to be a success, the producers must realize that the patrons want first-class products, properly graded and put up in the right kind of containers, at reasonable prices. In many localities, we find that the growers who have not learned to produce truck crops efficiently, are the ones who supply the markets. The more efficient truckers have an established trade and do not care to sell their goods beside a lot of inferior stuff. Consumers who patronize markets are entitled to the very best. It will take this to hold the trade.

Much more attention should be given to grading, packing and displaying of commodities offered for sale. Containers actually protect commodities from dirt, besides making them more attractive. Few people will buy butter, sausage, berries and many other such items if they have been exposed to the dust of the road and streets. In so far as is practicable, the commodity should be carried from the farm to the market in a clean, attractive, convenient container.

Products properly graded and carefully prepared have a higher market value than those to which no attention has been directed. The following quotation from a weekly market summary gotten out by the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Markets, is significant of this fact. "Carrots: Receipts are moderate and the demand has been good all the week with market unchanged at mostly $1.75 to $2.00 for washed and $1.50 a box for dirty ones."

In all cases where products are put up in packages, any considerable variation below the quality of the top layer does not permit the goods to be considered as first quality. Where extreme "topping off" is practiced it is readily detected by experienced buyers and the pack is considered dishonest.

Tentative grades based on bulletins issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Markets.

BOTTOM DROPPED OUT OF THE OCEAN

ABNORMAL GROUND SWELL OFF THE COAST OF NORTH CAROLINA—THOUSANDS OF PORPOISES LEAPED INTO AIR.

Washington, April 27.—An unusual phenomenon was today puzzling naval officers attached to the hydrographic office of the navy department.

An abnormal ground swell off the North Carolina coast was reported to the hydrographic office as occurring yesterday afternoon by naval collier Prometheus, in a dispatch which said:

"At 2 p. m., April 26, 1922, in latitude 35 degrees 50 minutes north longitude 74 degrees west, with smooth sea and light northwesterly airs suddenly encountered extremely heavy ground swells from 65 degrees (true.) The swells were approximately 30 feet through to crest. The disturbance lasted about two hours. Continuous soundings at intervals of 4 minutes showed no bottom at 130 fathoms. At one time thousands of porpoises were leaping in to the air. During the remainder of the afternoon experienced extraordinary currents varying in direction and strength but generally setting northeastward, verified by astronomical observations and radio compass bearings."

Some of the older sea going officers at the navy department ventured the opinion that the disturbance might have been the result of some subterranean disturbance, an earthquake or subterranean shifting. That it was not of local origin, they say is evidenced by the inability to find bottom at 130 fathoms.

MUSIC LESSONS—Mrs. Floyd H. Graves, formerly teacher of Piano

Effects Of Music on Animals

Why does a dog howl at sound of music. Is it because he likes it?

Scientists affirm that dogs begin trying to imitate the human voice, that music charms them, that their howl is not one of woe and woe, as the sound would indicate, but one of pleasure.

Hunters tell us that wild beasts can be charmed by the sound of music. Instances have been known where hunters have been able to save their lives from wild animals by the sound of a flute or a harp.

In Mr. Van Vechten's book, "Tiger in the House," an entire chapter is devoted to a discussion of cat in music.

"Music hath charms" to the animal family as well as to the human family.

A dairyman informs us that always sings or whistles when milking his cows, that the cows stand more quietly. He claims that music will increase the flow of milk.

One poultryman even goes so far as to declare that a phonograph placed in the laying room and kept playing music will increase the number of eggs.

Whether these results will follow or not, we are unable to state, but we do know that if there were more music around our dumb animals and less wearing and abuse, the animals would enjoy themselves much more and the owners would be well repaid for their kindness.—Dumb Animals.
